1. [REDACTED] will be visiting [REDACTED] sometime during the period 29 January through the first week or ten days of February. His detailed itinerary will be cabled.

2. He is particularly interested in talking with those people in the Station who have direct knowledge and solid understanding of operations that require technical support. He is not coming out to seek your approval of equipment now available, but rather to get your ideas about how best to spend research money, what problems to try to solve, and what types of solutions you think might be operationally feasible.

3. We would suggest a meeting, perhaps an informal seminar type meeting, with the people working on external operations.
